Class Description and Registration

Monday (1/8 – 3/19)

No classes – 2/19

_____ AV Club – 3:30 – 4:30 (Community Room)

Open to Middle and High School Students. Students will participate in all aspects of putting a weekly, five-minute news report together for the entire school. Writers will summarize national, local, and school stories, reporters will interview students and staff, and production staff will direct, film, and edit the material into a cohesive whole. Every student will have the opportunity to participate in each of these critical levels of the process, while also practicing real “news team” skills such as: collaborative problem solving, writing and technical support (i.e. iMovie, green screen set up, etc.). Both non-verbal (i.e. students using AAC devices) and verbal communicators will have the opportunity to anchor the news.

Winter Session Charge: $160

Instructor: Chris Yensan & Kiely Corti

Tuesday (1/9 – 3/20)

No classes – 2/20

_____ Printmaking - 3:30 – 4:30 (Art Room/Small Group Room)

Open to Elementary and Middle School Students. Students in this class will be asked to use their imaginative thought and flexible thinking to solve visual problems that will be expressed through the art of printmaking. Methods such as stamping, relief printing, mono printing, transferring images, and screen printing will assist these artists with developing and strengthening their fine motor skills. Exposure to printmaking in the history of fine art and our visual culture, such as advertising, the entertainment industry, and fashion will also be a highlight. Finally, students will practice various executive functioning skills such as self-monitoring, planning and organizing, and imaginative thought.

Winter Session Charge: $160

Instructor: Mary Ellen Andersen

_____ Cabin Fever Board Game Club - 3:30 – 4:30 (Community Room)

Open to Elementary and Middle School Students. This after school class is focused on increasing students' executive functioning skills and perspective-taking skills through group activities, games, and cooperative play. Through facilitated game play, students will have the opportunity to learn how to play increasingly complex board games and gain practice in flexible thinking and fair game play! Explicit instruction in social skills facilitated games/play has been shown to increase executive functioning skills, cognitive flexibility, self-awareness, and self-esteem! Students enrolled in Cabin Fever Board Game Club will have the opportunity to increase these skills while engaging with and learning about their peers. Students enrolled in last year's game club even began engaging their families in board games at home.

Winter Session Charge: $160

Instructor: Kyna Brockett

Thursday (1/11 – 3/22)

_____ Open Art Studio 3:30 – 4:30 (Art Room)

Open to Middle and High School Students. This class will offer an opportunity for students to choose, plan, and execute independent art projects. Students will be working towards complete independence in the art-making setting, gathering, organizing, and cleaning up all materials. Graphic organizers will provide students the support needed to manage both current and future tasks in a timely manner. In addition, students will work towards independence and self-monitoring their time so each "artist" can express themselves visually and develop their artistic voice and portfolio of masterpieces!

Winter Session Charge: $176

Instructor: Mary Ellen Anderson

Friday (1/12 – 3/23)

_____ 3D Sculpture and Animation – 3:30 – 4:30 (Art Room)

Open to Elementary and Middle School Students. 3D Sculpture and Animation is for kids who love to create and want a chance to work with their hands. This class will focus primarily on three-dimensional art and sculpture using a soft, pliable clay called Model Magic. Unlike other clays, Model Magic is marshmallow-soft, does not stain, and air-dries overnight, making this the perfect clay for students with fine motor challenges. Students enrolled in 3D Sculpture and Animation will learn the fundamentals of working with clay (flattening, rolling, cutting, stamping, coiling, and marbling) through structured activities guided by their own imaginations. Students will even be using a new app to make their own comic strips and animations based on their clay sculptures. This class is especially beneficial for students with high sensory needs, fine motor challenges, and/or vivid imaginations!
